Ex-Presidents as Mentors.
The influence of ex-presidents on the politics of the successors is no new thing in our politics. Perhaps Washington is not quite within the category, for he was not elected, but he was easily influenced; but we all know that Washington in the very last weeks of his life was the object of a policy to reverse his opinion on the "third term," coming from Federalists who feared that without him as their leader, the nation would be lost. Jefferson was the mentor of many administrations. Monroe sought the approval of the "Sage of Monticello" for his retirement in the presidency, and the Hermitage was a power often invoked. Martin Van Buren became the friend of John Tyler, and his presidency in 1848, eight years after his defeat for re-election. Millard Fillmore, the ex-president, was the candidate of the "American" party in 1856, and his candidacy greatly complicated the situation and contributed not a little to the defeat of Fremont. Even John Tyler sought to be an influence, for he was one of those who negotiated in vain to prevent the outbreak of the civil war.—Boston Transcript.

"Having been afflicted with a serious case of lung trouble and used many remedies without result—in fact, I was unable to do any work whatever for two months—Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey was recommended, and I commenced taking the same. I desire to state that I am entirely cured, having been pronounced so by my physician.

"This testimonial is conscientiously given and without any solicitation whatsoever. I consider this the greatest medicine of the present age."—Walter Clark, Bluefield, W. Va. Mr. Clark is a member of the firm of Clark & Co., prominent grocers of Bluefield.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

is a wonderful remedy in the treatment and cure of all diseases of the lungs, throat and stomach and of all weakening and wasting conditions. It is an absolutely pure, gentle and invigorating stimulant and tonic. When taken at mealtime it stimulates the mucous surfaces and little glands of the stomach to a healthy action, thereby improving the digestion and assimilation of the food and giving to the system its full proportion of nourishment. This action upon the digestive process is of great importance, as it brings to all the tissues and organs of the body the nutriment necessary to their sustenance and indirectly to the whole system strength and vigor. It is prescribed by doctors and is recognized as a family medicine everywhere.

If in need of advice write Medical Department, The Duffy Malt Whiskey Company, Rochester, New York, stating your case fully. Our doctors will give you advice free, together with a valuable illustrated medical booklet, containing rare common sense rules for health, which you cannot afford to be without, and some of the many thousands of gratifying letters received from men and women in all walks of life, both old and young, who have been cured and benefited by the use of this great medicine and who continue to enjoy good health. Sold by druggists, grocers and dealers or direct $1.00 a large bottle.
